

SENIOR RESEARCH MANAGER

(Reference: 23/KGZ/SRM02)

BACKGROUND ON IMPACT AND REACH

REACH was born in 2010 as a joint initiative of two International NGOs (IMPACT Initiatives and ACTED) and the United Nations Operational Satellite Applications Programme (UNOSAT). REACH's purpose is to promote and facilitate the development of information products that enhance the humanitarian community's decision making and planning capacity for emergency, reconstruction and development contexts. REACH facilitates information management for aid actors through three complementary services: (a) need and situation assessments facilitated by REACH teams; (b) situation analysis using satellite imagery; (c) provision of related database and (web)-mapping facilities and expertise.

IMPACT Initiatives is a humanitarian NGO, based in Geneva, Switzerland. The organisation manages several initiatives, including the REACH Initiative. The IMPACT team comprises specialists in data collection, management and analysis and GIS. IMPACT was launched at the initiative of ACTED, an international NGO whose headquarter is based in Paris and is present in thirty countries. The two organizations have a strong complementarity formalized in a global partnership, enabling IMPACT to benefit from ACTED's operational support on its fields of intervention.

We are currently looking for a Senior Research Manager to support our team in Bishkek, Kyrgyzstan.

Department: REACH
Position: Senior research manager
Contract duration: 12 months
Location: Kyrgyzstan, Bishkek
Starting Date: ASAP

COUNTRY PROFILE

Climate change impacts, and ever-increasing competition for and management of those same resources, is contributing to further environmental degradation and more resource insecurity. Competition over resources is most acute in the Fergana Valley, shared by Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan.

On the basis of USAID's recommended Theories of Change 8: Cooperation and Mutual Interest and given the complex nature of the context, ACTED, IMPACT Initiatives and International Alert are proposing a new initiative, entitled STREAM. ACTED and partners will spearhead an issued based approach, guided by the principles of do no harm and conflict and gender sensitivity, which will follow a participatory and inclusive development approach, and utilise adaptive programming that will respond to the evidence base and ensure the effectiveness, inclusiveness, impact and sustainability of the initiative.

In 2023, IMPACT will be undertaking a comprehensive regional analysis of current context and tensions, including an area-based risk assessment with an emphasis on evaluating areas where climate change is impacting water availability, food production yields and land use patterns within target areas.

The IMPACT senior research manager will provide overall management and research technical support on the assessment in close collaboration with ACTED and International Alert. The senior research manager will be able to manage and oversee the implementation of risk assessments using geospatial analysis methods, program manager capitalizing on global risk assessment best practices where risk is a factor of hazards, exposure and vulnerabilities. The incumbent will work closely with the climate & DRR GIS officer will evaluate areas where climate change is impacting water availability, food production yields and land use patterns within target areas. Where possible and upon approval from relevant authorities, the regional analysis will make use of Participatory Rural Appraisals (PRAs). The PRA is based on the following main principles: it is community-led; it is a process; it tries to include everyone relevant; in it people take ownership; it follows cycles of learning; it uses a range of tools and is highly visual and adapts to suit the audience; it is rigorous and ethical and participants continually check their work and design ways of testing the process and the findings; it should lead to action; it identifies the role of power in relationships and seeks to empower those disadvantaged; it is flexible and adaptable and can be used with a wide range of situations with a wide range of people and every effort will be made to select the most appropriate tools and techniques for the group at hand.

The regional activity will also involve a thorough desk review of relevant water policies and basin plans, (e.g. national water codes or equivalents, existing river basin and sub-basin plans in each country). This will help identify windows for cross-border collaboration as alignment with these codes and plans in each country is a near pre-requisite for government involvement. ACTED will then draw-up a comprehensive stakeholder map and a summary guide of NRM best practices, with a focus on Integrated Water Resource Management (IWRM). Based on these inputs, the analysis will then make a series of recommendations for future activities, geographic targeting and propose selection criteria for and target indicators for local initiatives and infrastructure investments. This will form the basis of a draft evidence-based roadmap (with strong focus on Kyrgyz-Tajik cooperation) that considers the mutual interest of riparian communities and is aligned as far as possible with national and regional basin planning initiatives. Upon completion, the results of the regional analysis will be compiled in a summary report including detailed maps and the draft roadmap, which will be discussed with communities and stakeholders through public consultations and presentations as well as participatory awareness raising campaigns. Under the supervision of the IMPACT Country Coordinator, the incumbent is responsible for supporting the development of research design and data collection tools, data analysis, the production of reports and factsheets and dissemination activities for IMPACT assessments.

FUNCTIONS

Under the management of the Head of Programs, the Senior research manager oversees the programs and staff within the STREAM project.

Within his/her team, the Senior research manager leads the IMPACT team to achieve program excellence and ensure the highest level of impact and program managerial accountability, while ensuring compliance to IMPACT's guidelines and standards. As part of the country's leadership, she/he contributes to the development and implementation of IMPACT's program strategy and promotes organizational vision and core values across the mission.

In his/her mission, the senior research manager will be hosted by ACTED and will fall under the direct responsibility and management of ACTED's Country Director and his/her delegates for all Administrative, Security, Logistics and Finance issues.
